General Information

Capital of Rabat

Located in the Atlantic coast, the capital of the kingdom of Morocco is a pure product of a cultural intercourse between its Arab-Muslim history and the Western modernism.

The city counts many historical sites, including the «New city », which was built under the French protectorate from 1912 to 1930. It includes the royal residence, colonial administrations, residential and commercial complexes and the Essaie Garden (Botanical and Pleasure garden). In this city, we can also find ancient spot that date back to the 12th century. The « New city » is one of the biggest and most ambitious urban projects of the 20th century in Africa, and probably the most complete one. The old parts include the Hassan mosque (construction started in 1184), and also the Almohades gates, the only remains of a tremendous capital city project of the Almohad Califat. Hence, we also find some remaining of the Moorish principality, or Andalusia, of the 17th century.

Rabat is also the second agglomeration of the Kingdom following Casablanca. It is a commercial and an industrial city (Textile, Food processing, construction materials...) where tourism and local craft play a major economic role. Rabat is becoming an important business center benefiting from the restructuration and reorganization of public administrations, thus, the installation of foreign companies and the creation of off-shores zones.
